

International relations

UzSIAC is a supporter of establishing and developing cooperation with leading educational institutions in Central Asia and abroad. We understand the importance of international collaboration and what we need to do to give students the best global experiences. The Institute has signed cooperation agreements and memoranda with approximately 60 foreign higher education institutions.

Active cooperation has been established with these organizations in various areas, in particular lectures by foreign specialists, practical classes and round tables, participation in research projects and discussions of dissertations, cooperation on grant programs, exchange of teaching staff, young researchers, advanced training courses, master classes and conferences, and online lectures organized for students of the institute.
